

Linda's Picks for Best Fall Books (3 of 5): The Worlds of Hunt Slonem

by VERANDA Magazine on Wednesday, November 2, 2011 at 9:18am

New York artist Hunt Slonem, a favorite of decorators for his lushly colored paintings of animals, voodoo saints, and famous faces, unleashes a tour-de-force in Dominique Nahas's joyful, 30-year retrospective of some 600 images. While tigers, monkeys, and rabbits pop up in Slonem's work, it is his winged friends—he's lived with dozens of tropical birds—who are his most obsessive subjects. Cockatoos and toucans, Amazons and macaws—all flutter through and land, if you're lucky, on your coffee table. (Vendome, $90)

You can find the title at major bookstores, or on Amazon.

-Linda Sherbert, Features

